The Monument

Boyne Mountain – Est. 1985

The Monument golf course is a collection of dramatic and challenging golf holes of widely varying character, reflecting the distinct design philosophies of such noted architects as Donald Ross, Dr. Alister MacKenzie, Robert Trent Jones, George Fazio, and Pete Dye.

The course is dedicated to great golf course architecture and to those who have left lasting imprints on the game. Holes are dedicated to these players and contributors to the game of golf, making the Monument a unique, playable Hall of Fame.

At the 2008 Tournament of Champions, a team of competitors sought out and broke the record for the fastest round of golf, completing 18 holes in 7 minutes and 56 seconds! The feat is recognized as the fastest ever by the Guiness Book of World Records.
